U.S. Cultural Values

- Time Orientation: To Americans, time is valuable and must be used carefully and productively. Americans expect promptness or “being on time” in both academic and social settings. If you find that you are running late to meet a classmate, professor or friends, it is good to let them know if possible.

- Work Orientation: Americans place a high value on hard work; they judge people by their dedication and how task oriented they are. Some believe that people achieve results on the basis of how hard they work.

- Achievement Orientation: A very high value is placed on a person’s accomplishments and productivity. Individuals often evaluate themselves and are evaluated by others in terms of their achievements.

- Individualism: Americans view themselves first and foremost as individuals with both freedom and responsibility to manage their own lives, make their own decisions and accomplish their own goals. Families and friends are still important, but individuals are expected to consider their own needs, desires, and, values. In this culture, people are more comfortable being independent.

- Direct Communication and Problem Solving: A strong value is placed on direct and straightforward communication. When problems arise between individuals, Americans prefer to discuss them openly and solve them. Americans will say “yes” or “no” to questions even if the answer might hurt someone’s feelings. They see this style of communication as more honest and efficient.
Pragmatism: Americans are very practical and like ideas that are seen as "useful". This goes together with the orientation toward work and achievement. You must be able to relate "theory" to "practice".

The Problems of First Names and Titles

In general, people in the United States are informal about titles and status. This can make addressing professors, teaching assistants (TA's), and staff confusing for international students and scholars. Do you call a professor by a title such as "Dr. Brown" or do you call him by his or her first name such as "Judith" as your classmates do? Sometimes it's one way, and sometimes it's another, so it is difficult to tell when each is appropriate.

It is best when dealing with professors and TA's to use their titles - "Professor, Doctor, Mr., or Ms." - unless they tell you otherwise. Often instructors will tell you on the first day of class what they would like to be called. You may also ask them how they would like to be addressed.

Graduate students, especially graduate assistants and TA's, are more likely than undergraduates to be on a first-name basis with their professors. Most professors are on a first-name basis with each other.

Office staff, receptionists, and secretaries are almost always on a first-name basis with students and faculty. It is most important to remember informality is not an indication of disrespect. It is more an indication of mutual respect, equality, and a willingness to engage in open dialog and intellectual exchange.

Weather

Detroit experiences four seasons each with a different weather pattern.

Summer starts in June and lasts through September. In Detroit, summertime is warm and residents enjoy swimming, hiking, boating, bicycling and other outdoor activities. The temperatures normally range from 90 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Winter lasts from December through March. Winter can be very cold and snowy in Detroit with temperatures ranging from 30 to -20 degrees Fahrenheit. Some winter activities include sledding, ice skating, skiing, and snowboarding.

Spring starts in March and lasts through June. There can be a lot of rain during the spring. Temperatures start to warm up at this time, normally ranging from 45 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit. Residents enjoy outdoors sports, bicycle riding, bonfires, and other outdoors activities during this season.

Fall starts in September and lasts through November. The temperatures during fall can range from 40 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Some activities during the fall include going to cider mills, picking pumpkins, and going on hayrides.

What to Bring

Be sure to pack appropriate clothing for the Detroit climate. Winter clothing can also be purchased in Detroit. Be sure to bring your medical records (with the English translation), information about any long-term health problems you may have, prescription medication, and information about any health insurance policy by which you are covered. You should always carry your immigration documents (passport, I-20 or DS-2019, and verification of financial support) with you on the plane, not in your checked luggage.

Do not pack fresh fruit, produce, meat, prepared food, seeds, or spices. The bureau of Customs and Border Protection will not allow you to bring these items into the United States.

Immigration Documents

Again, be sure to have your passport and all immigration documents with you - DO NOT pack them in your checked luggage. You will need to show your passport, DS-2019 or I-20 and U.S. visa to a customs officer before you can collect your checked luggage. It is also extremely important that you make sure that you have your passport and any visa paperwork back from the Customs Officer before you leave the inspection area.

What You Should Do After You Complete Check-In

1. Activate Your WSU Email Account:
   International Students are required to activate their WSU e-mail accounts. OISS will use this e-mail account as a primary method in communicating the regulatory and policy changes. WSU will not send an email to your personal account, i.e. yahoo, gmail, etc.

2. Open A Bank Account: Americans do not usually carry a lot of cash; even small purchases are paid by debit/credit card. You will need to open a checking account at a bank. There are banks and credit unions that are located near and on WSU.

Academica
Academica is Wayne State’s single sign-on portal, providing a secure access to most Wayne State systems and services. Academica also features a powerful social messaging tool for all of Wayne State.

Registering For Classes

You will be able to register for classes before you arrive to Wayne State University.

If you are an undergraduate student, classes are open to you through the 5000 level if you have taken the prerequisite class(es). 6000 and 7000 level classes may need departmental approval. Departmental Approval is requested through our academic advisors.

If a class is full, you must ask the professor to approve you into the full section. You do not need to maintain a minimum amount of credits to retain your J-1 visa status. But if have an F-1 visa status you must maintain a full-time status as a student.

To maintain “full-time” status, undergraduates need 12 credits (most full-time students register for 12-15 credits per semester - you will need departmental approval to register for over 18 credits) and graduate students need 8 credits to maintain full-time status.

Classes are listed in our Bulletin of Classes - you can access it here: http://www.classschedule.wayne.edu/. Be sure to view the current semester.

- Click on “course/subjects” at the top of the left menu and this will bring up a complete list of subjects.
- Click on the appropriate subject for the list of courses available for the appropriate term.
- Click on the link for the class and it will show each section available for the term - this is where the registration information is accessed including the CRN (Course Reference Number).

For assistance with registration, visit: http://wayne.edu/students/how-to-register. You may also receive help and planning by scheduling a meeting with the academic advisor listed below.

- Laura Hetzler

To read a brief description of the classes access this page:

Simply click on the subject area to access the list of courses and information. Be aware that not all of these classes are offered every term. Be sure you have opened the Schedule of Classes for the correct semester.

Placement Testing

Several basic courses at Wayne State University (WSU) are taught with the expectation that the student has attained a certain level of knowledge and skill in the subject. An advisor will review your transcript and your intended major and determine which exam(s) you should take, and when it would be best to do so. It is better to be placed into a lower level course by taking an examination than to fail a higher level course if you are not prepared.

There is in-person and online registration for testing.

Online registration is available for:
- Biology Placement Exam
- Chemistry Placement Exam
- College-Level Exam Program (CLEP)
- Critical Thinking Competency Exam
- English Qualifying Exam
- Mathematics Placement Exam

You can now register for testing online or in person. For online testing registration, visit: http://testing.wayne.edu/app/index.cfm

To find placement test information, dates, and prices, visit: http://testing.wayne.edu/app/Orientation.cfm

Bank Information, Terms and Explanations

To function efficiently in the U.S. you will need to open a checking account at a local bank. This section introduces you to a few of the basic options available.

When selecting a bank, you should compare their services and fees and choose the bank that is the most convenient for you.

When you open an account with a bank you will need to show two photo identifications. These can be your passport and driver's license or WSU OneCard. You do not need a social security number to open a bank account. If your bank asks for a Social Security Number and you do not have one, fill out Internal Revenue Service (IRS) W-8 BEN Form, which will prove to the bank that you are exempt from this requirement. The W-8 BEN Form (http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/iw8.pdf) is available at banks or on the web in pdf form. There is no charge for the form.

The major banks and credit unions located near Wayne State are inside the Macabees Building near the Welcome Center, and inside the Student Center. They include:

Types of Accounts

Checking Accounts: In many countries checking accounts are called current accounts. Banks offer a variety of checking account types each with different fees or costs. Some banks charge per transaction, some have a basic monthly fee, and others offer free services if you maintain a certain minimum balance in your account at all times.

The type of account you choose should depend on the number of checks you will write each month and/or the amount of money you will retain in your checking account. Any canceled checks and a list of all the account activity of the preceding month will be sent to you in a monthly statement, either as a paper statement or online.

Be careful to keep an accurate record of every check you write in order to avoid having checks returned and incurring additional charges. “Bouncing” a check (writing a check for more money than you actually have in the account) can cause a major expense and a great deal of trouble.

Regular Checking Account: With a regular checking account there are no service charges if you keep a minimum account of money in your account. If your balance goes below the specified amount, you will be assessed a service charge of the month regardless of the number of checks you write. You should open a regular account if you keep your balance above the required minimum balance, thereby avoiding all service charges. There are types of checking accounts that do not charge a service fee based on the minimum balance or the number of checks written.

Savings Accounts: A savings account enables you to save money and accumulate interest on your money. Interest is either paid monthly or quarterly. Although you can withdraw your money from your savings account, this service is limited. Ask your bank for the number of monthly withdrawals permitted without penalty. The difference between a savings and a checking account is that you receive higher interest in a savings account, and fewer transactions take place since the purpose is to “save your money”.

Interest Checking: Interest checking accounts provide the services of both a checking and a savings account. This means that you can write checks and also collect interest on the money in your account.

Credit Unions

Credit Unions are different from banks because they may have lower fees and higher interest rates for checking and savings accounts. They may also offer car loans and credit cards with lower interest rates than other banks.

Opening an Account

To open any bank account, simply go to the bank of your choice and tell the receptionist that you would like to open an account. The receptionist will direct you to a person who can explain the kind of accounts that are available and can open one for you. Banks have “customer service” personnel whose job is to answer customers’ questions and assist with problems that have to do with banking services.

Automated Teller Machine (ATM)

You can complete many transactions at an ATM, including -cash withdrawals, deposits, and transfers between checking and savings accounts. You can also view your account balance. This is free at your own bank and its branches, but you will incur a $1.50 - $4.50 charge from your bank AND the other bank when you use another bank’s ATM. You will need an ATM card or debit card to use the ATM machine. See below for Safety Tips when using ATM’s.

Debit Card (also called Check Card)

A debit card is connected to your checking account and is used almost like a regular credit card (such as a MasterCard or Visa), except that the charges made are deducted from your checking account immediately upon purchase. Your debit card can also be used in the ATM machine. There may be a limited number of transactions that can be done per month for free, so check with your bank.

Certificate of Deposit (CD)

If you will be depositing large sums of money in the bank, CDs have higher interest rates than regular checking or savings accounts. However, if you withdraw money before the CD matures, a penalty is assessed.

Credit Card

A credit card allows you to charge items without having to pay the cost immediately. A monthly statement will show the charges made on the card and the amount the cardholder has to pay the credit company. If the full amount is not paid by the due date, fees and high interest rates might apply.

Online Banking and Bill Paying

Online banking allows you to visit a secure website to check your bank balance, transfer funds, etc. All campus area banks offer online banking, which is usually free. Many companies offer free bill pay through their individual websites, please contact them for further information.

Direct Deposit

Direct Deposit can be used to have your salary directly deposited into your bank account from your employer instead of receiving a paper check. There is no charge, but there may be a limit to the number of free direct deposit transactions per month.

24 Hour Teller Machine Safety Tips

Automated Teller Machines (ATM) are conveniently located all around Detroit and in some areas of the WSU campus. They are convenient, but you must be cautious when using one. Thefts do occur, usually at night and in poorly lit areas. You can prevent yourself and your property by following these easy tips:

- Choose a well-lit ATM and have someone with you when using the machine at night.
- Be aware of your surroundings.
- Stand directly in front of the ATM so no one can see you enter in your personal identification number (PIN).
- Do not keep your PIN in your wallet or with your ATM card. It should be memorized upon receiving it and then destroyed.

Costs and Budgets

International students should budget their money carefully. The estimated annual cost of tuition, fees, and living expenses are indicated on your DS-2019 or I-20.

To receive a visa to study at WSU, students must show that they will have sufficient funding to support themselves throughout their course of study. Students should not rely on supplementing their finances with money earned through on-campus (unless arranged prior to arrival, such as a graduate assistantship for a PhD student) or authorized off-campus employment.

You will have considerable expenses when you first arrive in Detroit (health insurance, tuition, fees, books and supplies, deposits for housing, utilities, etc.). We recommend that you bring $1,500-$2,500 to cover these expenses.

You should carry some cash in U.S. dollars for immediate use. The rest of the money should be in the form of a traveler’s check, cashier’s check, or an international draft in U.S. dollars drawn on a U.S. bank.
Tax Information

Tax Filing Requirements

Everyone in the U.S. is required to file U.S. income tax forms, including non-immigrants and their dependents. All non-resident scholars who received U.S.-source income are required to file Form 1040, 1040EZ, 1040NR or 1040NR-EZ, etc. and/or Form 8843 by April 15 each year. Non-resident scholars (and their dependents) who received no U.S.-source income do not need to file the above-mentioned forms, but are required to file Form 8843 by June 15 (or 16) each year. Non-resident scholars may also be required to file Michigan (or other state) tax returns, depending on their income.

OISS offers tax workshops for non-immigrants who are also non-resident for tax purposes. We do offer free tax software to determine your residency status (only for tax purposes) from January to April every year. Please visit our website (www.oiss.wayne.edu) for more information.

Tax Treaties

If you are a resident of a country with which the U.S. has a tax treaty you may be exempt from payment of U.S. federal income tax on income earned in the U.S. How do you find out whether your country has a tax treaty with the U.S. that allows such a deduction and additional details regarding the deduction? Consult U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Publication 901 (U.S. Tax Treaties) available at www.irs.gov.

If you are employed by WSU, qualify for, and choose to claim a tax treaty exemption, you must obtain Form 8233 from the payroll department. The Payroll Office will use the information you provide in Form 8233 and “Attachment to Form 8233” to record your tax treaty exemption. When your period or amount of exemption has expired, the Payroll Office will automatically begin to withhold taxes. A new form 8233 and attachment must be completed annually in January.

Dependents

Depending on the situation, you may be able to claim your spouse and/or children as dependents for tax purposes. Please consult with IRS or professional tax preparers for further assistance.

Housing Information

Finding a place to live is one of the most important and immediate concerns you will have in beginning your stay at WSU. The following section is provided to give you some guidelines to follow and an overview of the options available to you.

Housing Terms to Know

- Lease: A legal contract detailing the terms and conditions under which the renter (the tenant) agrees to rent property from the property owner. A lease guarantees regular payments at a set price from the renter for a specified length of stay.
IMPORTANT: Read through your lease for any conditions that you were not aware of when asking about the apartment. Do not sign a lease without knowing all of the information it contains.

- Rent: A tenant's regular payment (often monthly) to a landlord for the use of property or land.

- Landlord: A person who rents land, a building, or an apartment to a tenant.

- Sublet: Often a short-term special arrangement where a renter finds another person to live in his/her rented space/property. One must ask their landlord if it is possible to sublet out your rental space.

- Resident Advisor: College student selected to mentor floor or wing residents, also referred to as a RA.

- Security deposit: Funds, in addition to rent, that a landlord requires a renter to pay to be kept separately in a fund for use should the renter cause damage to the renter property or otherwise violate terms of the lease. The security deposit is usually no more than one month's rent. The deposit is returned in full to you if there is no damage to your rental property at the end of your stay.

Make sure to have a written agreement to receive the deposit within 3-4 weeks after you have moved out. The deposit will often be sent in the form of a check. Some people inspect their apartment carefully when moving in and record any damages, so that they will not be charged for it when moving out.

- Utilities: The term used for the extra charges (not included in your rent) for gas, electricity, cable television, and water.

- On-campus Housing: Located on college campus property.

- Off-campus Housing: Not affiliated with the college campus property.

- Suites (suite style): On campus housing in which multiple rooms share some a common space.

- Apartment: A building that houses more than one family in separate living units.

- Dorm (Dormitory): A building on a school campus that has rooms where students can live. Often in single, double, or multiple units.

- Meal Plan: Is usually a prepaid account from which you draw for meals. You will probably have a meal card (which may be your college ID card) which you will swipe each time you purchase a meal.
School meal plans often have varying levels. If the plan is a “per meal” plan, the student will be allowed a certain number of meals per week or per semester. This type of plan usually charges the student a set amount per breakfast, lunch or dinner. Other plans may provide the student a certain dollar amount per week or semester and the student is charged per item, so the student’s choices determine cost deducted from the plan per meal.

- Co-Ed Housing: This usually refers to apartment style dorms, where the floor and/or rooms will have both men and women in them.

Although WSU housing may not be available when you first arrive, it is a good idea to get on the waiting list as soon as possible. Please apply as quickly as possible in order to increase your chance of receiving your first choice of accommodations. Applications are available on the website. Rates and other information about WSU housing can also be found on the Office of Housing website.

For on-campus housing furnished units are billed per person per term and unfurnished apartments are billed per unit per term (meaning occupants share the rent you see printed on the Rate Sheet).

If you live in a dorm style room (Towers, Atchison, Ghafari or Deroy furnished) you MUST purchase at least a 5-Meal Plan (5 meals per week). Please be aware that if you purchase a 10, 15 or Warrior Plan you may not reduce to 5 - you may only increase your plan.

If you live in an Apartment (Deroy Unfurnished, Chatsworth, University Towers, Anthony Wayne Drive) you do not have to purchase a meal plan. If you choose not to purchase a meal plan you may still eat in the residence hall cafeterias using your WSU One Card to pay per meal (One Card information will be provided upon your arrival).

If you know who you would like for a roommate, follow the instructions on the application - coed (male/female) roommates are only allowed in Unfurnished units.

Please apply for:
- Towers Residential Suites (dormitory style suites)

Housing and Meal Plan Fee Payments

Wayne State University will charge all fees for housing and meals to your student account and you are responsible for the payment of these fees each semester. You may access your account information by logging into Academica, clicking on “Student Resources”, then clicking on “Online Payment”, and then clicking on "Make an online payment" on the left side of the menu. You will then be brought to the Wayne State University Online Payments home page. You can then click “Your Account” at top right side of the page, and then “Click here to make a payment”.

Once your charges for the term appear online you may pay your fees. If you are able, it is most convenient to pay these fees online before you arrive by credit card or debit card (this is also a good way to check if your credit/debit card will work in the U.S).

You can also wire payments directly to Wayne State University (Inquire at your financial institution first; this can be costly as there are fees issued by banks to do so). You may pay fees when you arrive or after the semester starts if this is most convenient for you. Additional information is available through the Office of the Bursar here: http://fisops.wayne.edu/bursar/e-bills/index.php.

Please be sure to pay only your:

- Residence Hall fees
- Residence Hall Miscellaneous Fees

Housing Options

Apartments
Most apartments require a one-semester, 9 month or 12 month lease. Security deposits of either a set fee or one month’s rent are standard, although some will vary. Some apartments are furnished; however, dishes, linens, pots, pans and silverware are usually not included. Some complexes offer such amenities as swimming pools, game rooms, cable TV, color TVs, dishwashers, and washers and dryers.

What To Look For

The list below suggests various items to consider when comparing apartments.

Space
- Does the apartment feel big enough for you, plus regular visitors?
- What are each room’s dimensions? Will all your furniture fit?

Condition
- Is the apartment clean and freshly painted? If not, can they repaint before you move in?
- Is painting allowed for changing the color scheme of a room?
- Are there holes and cracks in the walls and ceilings, bulging plaster, rotting wood?
- Are the floors clean and in good condition?
- Is there any evidence of animals, such as roaches, ants or mice?

Windows
- Are the windows secure? Do they open easily from inside the apartment – but not the outside? Are the panes in good condition?
- Does the landlord provide window cleaning?
- Blinds or shades? Do you like the view? Does anything block the sunlight?
Kitchen and Bath
- Is the kitchen equipped with a stove and refrigerator? Are the appliances gas or electric?
- When you run water from the tap, is it clear? Is it hard or soft?
- Do the toilets flush? Does the shower function properly, or does it need a new showerhead?
- Are the fixtures in good condition - or cracked and pitted?
- Any special care instructions for the floors? Are they linoleum, tile, or wax vinyl?

Storage
- Is there enough closet space for your clothes, linens, and sports gear? What about cupboards for table and cookware? Can you add shelves?
- Can you keep large items in the apartment house basement?

Noise
- Can you hear the people in the next apartment, up and downstairs, on the street below?
- Are you required to put down carpeting or a rug to reduce noise?

Heat/Air Conditioning
- Are there heat vents in every room? Who controls the heat, you or the landlord?
- If there are no air conditioning units, can you install your own?

Wiring
- Are there enough electrical outlets? (Two per room is the general rule).
- Does the light switch work?
- Is there a fuse box (circuit breaker) in the apartment? Where is it?

Service
- Is there a full-time maintenance staff? What hours are they on duty? Can they let you in if you lose your key? If there is no maintenance staff on site, what is the procedure to contact them in case of an emergency?
- How do you dispose of garbage and trash?
- Is there a laundry room? How many machines? Do they all work? How much do they cost?
- Is there a parking lot available?
- How are mail deliveries handled, including large packages? What happens if you're not home when something is delivered?

Building
- Are the lobbies, halls, laundry room, and other public areas clean, well-kept, and well-lit? What about the grounds surrounding the building?
- Are all locks secure?
- Is there an active tenants' association?
- Any rumors that the building is up for sale or might go co-op? (This would mean that you would have to move as a renter.)
• Is the building licensed as a rental unit by the City of Detroit?

Location
• Where is the nearest supermarket, dry cleaner, pharmacy, etc.?
• How far do you have to commute to your classes? Can you walk to a bus stop nearby?
• What about local crime rates? Do you feel safe?

Lease
• How long can you rent - academic year or 12 months? What happens if you break the lease - do you lose your security deposit? Can you sublease?
• Should you take out an insurance policy on your apartment for theft and damage? Or is your landlord responsible for this coverage?
• If you make any improvements, do they become the property of the landlord when you leave?

Cost
• How much is the apartment/house cost per month? What day of the month is payment due? If paying rent with a check, where do you send your payment each month?
• Does the price of rent include utilities, garbage pickup, use of parking, etc.?
• Under what conditions is the security deposit (often a month’s rent) refundable?

Lease Agreements

When you rent a room or an apartment you will be required to sign a lease. A lease is a written contract between you (the tenant) and the landlord (the owner of the rental property). When you sign a lease, you agree to pay a certain amount of money each month over a specific period of time (usually 6, 9 or 12 months) and to follow certain rules for the right to occupy the rental property for a set period of time. Most lease agreements require that you pay a security deposit, which is usually equal to one month’s rent. This security deposit will be returned to you if you fulfill all the terms of the lease. Read the lease carefully and be sure you understand it before signing.

A Lease is a binding legal document and that being the case, you should only sign a lease for an apartment you have seen and inspected yourself or by someone you trust – a family member or close friend.

The Standard Michigan Lease

Many landlords use a standard lease in which the following topics are discussed:

Repairs

The Standard Michigan Lease clearly states that the landlord is under no duty to make repairs except to underground pipes and the roof. The Michigan Supreme Court has ruled that a landlord is under no obligation to make repairs not specified in the lease.
The tenant is responsible for the repair of above ground pipes. Water damage is often the most costly problem that can occur. Aside from plugged drains, the most serious problem arises when a unit is left unheated or the pipes are not drained during a long, cold weekend or over Christmas break. This allows the water resting in the pipes to freeze, which can result in burst pipes. If this happens, water can flood your apartment or house and all damage would be the tenant’s responsibility.

Also, the landlord is not responsible for any damages to your property caused by fire, rain, windstorm, defects in the building, or from his failure to repair the roof or underground pipes. Therefore, you would be wise to obtain renter’s insurance to cover your personal belongings in the event of damage. Renters insurance is often inexpensive, so it would be wise to purchase it.

Subleasing

Subleasing is the practice of a tenant leasing to another tenant rather than fulfilling the lease. Landlord approval must be obtained before the tenant may sublease to another. The Michigan Supreme Court in 1977 held that the landlord cannot withhold consent to sublease without reason.

If the landlord allows you to sublease, you will still remain liable on the lease until the end of the term. You may be held responsible for unpaid rent or damages caused by the person to whom you have sublet.

Privacy

The landlord has the right to inspect the premises and the furniture furnished by him upon reasonable notice; as the current tenant, you should be notified in advance of an inspection. A landlord will be trespassing if he enters the premises with a pass key without notice.

Exceptions include a genuine emergency or when showing the apartment at any time to a prospective renter within three months of the lease expiration date or at any time to a prospective buyer. Some leases give the landlord the right to inspect the premises at any time, so read your lease carefully.

Extra Clauses

Rent increases during term of lease - some leases provide for rent increases during the term if insurance, property, taxes, or certain city services are increased.

The landlord reserves the right to terminate lease for objectionable conduct. This clause is inserted to protect the quiet atmosphere of the complex. You may be evicted for objectionable conduct such as excessive noise or engaging in dangerous, unlawful or destructive behavior.

Cosigner Liability

The law provides that each roommate is individually (as well as jointly) responsible for all monies owed to a landlord. A landlord can hold any of the co-signers responsible. To avoid potential problems, you and your roommates should have a clear understanding in advance of how financial obligations will be met.

Also, a landlord has the right to confiscate your roommate’s furniture or his/her personal property for the rent due. You are also responsible for getting roommates to pay for their portion of a utility bill if it is under your name.

“Breaking Your Lease”

If for some reason you need you need to move before the end of your lease, or “break your lease”, tell your landlord that you want to move and ask for advice and help in subletting. If you communicate in advance with your landlord and cooperate, it is more likely he/she will be as accommodating as possible. Don’t expect the landlord to sublease for you. You will be liable for the rent for the term of the lease if you walk out and you or your landlord finds no replacement.

Deposits

Most housing units require a security deposit to protect the property against damage and to keep tenants from leaving without paying rent. However, the specific purpose of the deposit and the conditions under which the landlord may keep or return the deposit are generally not stated. The result from this miscommunication is often unrefunded deposits.

To minimize the possibility of this happening, you should have in writing the specific purpose of the deposit and what conditions must be met in order to get it back. The landlord must return your deposit, according to the lease, on time and itemize any deductions made from your deposit.

Law does permit the landlord to deduct any rent that is due or any cost of repairing damage inflicted during the tenant’s term. You are not responsible for normal “wear and tear”. You must leave the premises in the same condition as you found them. If your visitors break or damage your landlord’s property, you are responsible for having those items repaired or replaced.

To assure compliance with the Security Deposit Act and to protect yourself, be sure to fill out and return your inventory checklist as soon as you move in. If something is broken when you move in but not noted on your inventory checklist, you will probably pay to have it fixed when you move out. You may want to document gross deficiencies with photographs.

Utilities

Utilities are often not covered with your rent. Be sure to check your lease. You will need to contact the companies below to start your service and check on approximate cost.

Housing Problems

If you have a problem with your landlord or owner concerning rent, deposit, refund, repairs, etc., try the following:

- Talk with your landlord first. He or she may not be aware of the problem. Be sure that the landlord has an opportunity to respond to your complaint before going elsewhere for help.
- An important consumer protection service of the state is the Small Claims Court. This court gives persons over the age of 19 the right to file a claim when a disagreement involves money or property valued at $15,000 or less. If you feel you have a valid case, you should file a claim in the county where, the defendant, the person you wish to make your claim against, lives or has an office. The clerk will file your claim and assign your case a number. You may be contracted by the defendant to attempt to settle out of court. If your case does reach court, be sure to have your case well organized with all receipts and documents at hand.

General Information

Denial by a landlord to rent is against the law under certain conditions. A landlord may not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, religion or national origin according to the Federal Fair housing Law (Title VIII of the 1968 Civil Rights Act) and the Supreme Court decision in Jones vs. Mayer. Not only does this include initial refusal to rent, but also discriminatory practices as to terms, conditions, privileges, or the provision of services or facilities by the landlord.

Renter’s Insurance

You should consider purchasing renter’s insurance while in the United States. Insurance agencies are listed in the yellow pages in the phonebook, or online. You may wish to contact an insurance agent for price quotes.

Uber or Lyft

Uber and Lyft are on-demand car services that allows you to request private drivers through applications on your cellular mobile devices. The service sends the nearest driver to your location in a private taxi-style car, pre-calculates the fare, estimates a time of arrival, as well as offers the option to split the cost with additional riders. The service provides a cashless solution that charges your ride directly to the credit card on file with your account.

Depending on availability, Uber and Lyft also offer several different levels of service. The service’s lowest-cost option, UberX and Lyft run in everyday cars like the Toyota Prius. Uber Black is the company’s original service, costing a bit more but running in high-end town cars with professional drivers. Uber SUV and Lyft XL charge a premium for a larger vehicle, which is ideal for groups of up to six people. Uber LUX is the top-of-the-line option, operating in posh rides like Porsche Panameras and BMW 7 series sedans.

To use Uber or Lyft you first must download and install the application from the App Store located on your mobile device. After you launch the newly installed app from the device, follow their in-app instructions.

- Set up your new Uber or Lyft account, including your credit or debit card information.
- From the app’s home screen a map will display; select your current location for pickup.
- At the bottom of the home screen, a list of car options appears. Request the appropriate option and wait for a local driver to accept.
- If you choose to go with that driver, enter your destination address and tap Continue.
- View the cost, ETA, and route and tap Accept.
- Before you accept an Uber ride, you may see it has “surge pricing”, which charges more than the standard fare when drivers are in high demand. Often, the app will tell you when surge pricing is expected to end. If you can wait 15 or 20 minutes, the price usually returns to the usual rate.
- For your security, only after the driver picks you up will the Uber application show that driver your destination.
- When in route, the Uber application will ask for feedback on the driver and charge your credit/debit card for the ride upon completion.

ATTENTION:
You may find that shopping is very different from what you are used to at home. Generally, merchandise is sold “self-service”. When shopping in U.S. stores use a shopping cart or basket provided at the front of the store. Do not place items in purse or pocket. This may be interpreted as stealing or “shoplifting”.

Shopping Online

Shopping online can be fun. Please remember to also protect yourself and your privacy. Some popular sights are: Ebay, Craigslist, and Amazon, just to name a few.

Remember these tips when shopping online:

- When possible use a secure online payment service like Paypal or WorldPay.
- Use credit cards rather than debit cards and try to make all transactions on one card.
- Do not keep your personal or financial information (including account passwords) on your computer.
- Keep a record of what you pay for and always check your online purchases off against your statement.
- When submitting information online, make sure there is a “lock” icon on the browser’s status bar and that it is “locked”, meaning that the connection is secure.
- Always check the privacy policy of any Web site that requests personal details.
- “Read the fine print” – Sites often have “terms and conditions” to which you agree. It is a good idea to read them!
- Under law, a company must ship your order within the time stated on the website. If no time is promised, the company must ship your order within 30 days. If they are unable to ship within the promised time, they must inform you and give you an option to cancel the order for a prompt refund.
- Compare prices. Check shipping fees. Order early to allow plenty of time for the shipment to arrive.
- If meeting someone to make a purchase or if you place an ad, make sure you have friends or family with you and choose a public place if possible. Never go alone to do a personal sale or go to purchase items based on personal ads.

Shopping In Detroit and Surrounding Areas

You may find that shopping is very different from what you are used to at home. Generally, merchandise is sold “self-service”. When shopping in the U.S. stores use a shopping cart or basket provided at the front of the store. Do not place items in a purse or pocket. This may be interpreted as stealing or shoplifting.
Becoming familiar with the best places to shop for your particular needs is important. Below is some general information regarding shopping in the United States.

Most importantly, compare prices: the same items are often sold at different prices in different stores. Ask your friends where to buy at bargain prices. Watch for sales advertised in the newspapers and for items “on special”. “Want ads” in the newspapers list sales of used household goods and furnishings.

Prices in the stores are normally fixed, and the customer does not bargain with the sales clerk. You should, however, bargain when you buy from a private individual, or in the case of purchasing a home or car.

For general needs such as clothing, shoes, bedding, and household appliances, you may want to go to one of the large shopping centers not too far from campus. Some nearby stores that carry a variety of items are:

- Walmart Supercenter
  5821 Mercury Drive
  Dearborn, MI 48126
  6:00 A.M. – 12:00 A.M.
- Walmart Supercenter

The WSU Farmers Market is open every Wednesday afternoon from June until the end of October. Here you can buy vegetables, flowers, baked goods, and a variety of many more items. There are usually reduced prices for students at the WSU Farmers Market. Also, SEED Wayne usually allows students to purchase $2.00 tokens for $1.00, so you can get half off produce you buy from the market. Below are some close farmers markets:

- Eastern Market

Sales Tax

In Michigan, there is a 6% sales tax on all non-food goods, except for prescription medicines and periodical publications such as newspapers and magazine. Usually the tax is not included in the quoted price but is added to the bill when you pay.

The Classified Section in the Back of Newspapers

This section lists other sources for buying used furniture, used electrical appliances, used cars and used clothing. This section also lists “garage, yard, and rummage” sales. A garage sale is a sale of household items and clothing in someone’s garage or on the street in front of their house. A rummage sale is a collection of goods from many people who belong to a specific organization; the profits from the sale go toward operating the organization or toward civic projects which the organization supports.

Getting A Driver’s License

State of Michigan Driver’s License

Michigan Law requires all drivers to have a Michigan driver’s license to operate a motor vehicle. Thus, the international driver license is not valid. Driving without a valid Michigan driver’s license could result in a fine or revocation of all privilege to drive.

To get a Michigan driver’s license, you must pass a written test, a road sign test, a vision test, and a road test. The first step is to prepare for the written test and a road sign test by studying the booklet What Every Driver Must Know. If you are younger than 18, be sure to read the section of What Every Driver Must Know that describes the special regulations that pertain to you. The booklet is available online, please visit www.michigan.gov/sos/0,1607,7-127-1642-103522--,00.html.

A Michigan Driver’s license can be obtained at any Secretary of State Office. For more information, please visit www.michigan.gov/sos.
Special Reciprocity Agreement with France and Germany

Pursuant to MCL 257.302a(2) of the Michigan Vehicle Code, the Secretary of State has determined that the standards for licensing operators in France and Germany correspond substantially to those of the State of Michigan. Persons holding valid driver licenses issued by France and Germany may operate passenger vehicles in Michigan on such licenses, if they are not receiving compensation for such operation.

*Driver License acquisition or renewal now requires documentation to confirm current immigration status, please see the State of Michigan website for locations and additional details.

State of Michigan Personal Identification Card

If you need extra identification but not a driver’s license, you can get a State of Michigan identification (ID) card at any Michigan Secretary of State office for $10.00. The identification requirements are the same as the identification requirements for a driver’s license. However, the Secretary of State office will not issue you an ID card if you have a Michigan driver’s license, a driver’s license from another state, or a driver’s license from another country.

Family Issues

Although a lot of the topics covered in this section may not seem universal, they vary greatly across cultures. Simple everyday activities in your country may turn out to be unnecessarily more difficult and time consuming in this country. Living in a foreign country can be both rewarding and frustrating. OISS hopes that this section will help you and your family prepare for life in the United States.

Health Insurance

Medical insurance is an absolute necessity in the U.S. For many types of U.S. student visas, it is also a requirement to maintain your status — for you and your dependents. Be sure to include all your family members on your health insurance plan. See the section on health insurance in this handbook regarding the importance of health insurance.

Children’s Safety

- Car Seats: According to Michigan Law, children under the age of four are required to sit in an approved child safety seat while riding in a motor vehicle. For children less than 20 pounds, the child or infant seat must face the rear of the vehicle, according to the standard code in the code of Federal Regulations. Children ages 4-15 are required to be in a seat belt if seated in the front or back seat. When buying a car seat, check carefully to see that it meets approved safety requirements. You may want to look in the newspaper or at resale shops to find a less expensive, used car seat. You can be fined by the police if your child is not in a car seat. When using the car seat, be sure to carefully follow the manufacturer’s instructions every time your child travels.

• Domestic Abuse: Domestic abuse occurs when one person in an intimate relationship or marriage tries to dominate and control the other person. This can be in the form of sexual abuse, emotional abuse, financial abuse, physical abuse, psychological or verbal abuse. Sexual abuse can happen to a man or a woman of any age. Sexual abuse by a partner can include name calling, refusal to use contraception, deliberately causing unwanted physical pain during intercourse, deliberately passing on a sexual disease or infection. If you find yourself in a situation where you feel threatened, or violated, even if the person threatening you is within your own family, there are resources available for you to seek help.

Child Abuse and Neglect

Michigan law forbids child abuse (beating or excessive punishment inflicted by the parents or other family members). Teachers and childcare providers are required by law to report any suspected child abuse to the county children services agency. They may conduct an investigation. Children must never be left alone in the home at any time. Police will investigate if children are found alone, or if they are reported to be alone. If the police investigate and find that child neglect exists, they may file child endangerment charges against the parents and take the children to the county children services agency temporarily. Police may also take children away if the parents are arrested for a crime, such as shoplifting.

Cleaning Agents

Keep all cleaning products such as soaps and sprays out of the reach of children. Many of these products contain poisons. Never mix one cleaning agent with another.

Plastic Bags

Keep all plastic bags away from children. They are a hazard for choking or suffocating.

Strangers/Kidnapping

Teach your children about safety in public places. They should stay away from people they do not know. Make sure they understand they should never go with anyone they do not know for any reason. Although the incidents are not high, there has been an increase in the number of children kidnapped and physically hurt.

Child Care

Babysitters

People who stay with children when the parent is absent are known as babysitters. When both parents leave the house for even a short time, children must have a babysitter. For reliable babysitters, ask other parents in your neighborhood.

Day Care Centers

Day care centers provide care for children whose parents have to be away all day. A hot lunch and two snacks are usually included. Various programs and activities are provided. Ask for a description of the center’s program (some centers also have a half-day option). Below are some links to website listing local day care centers.

Schools

Preschools and Nursery Schools
In these schools (ages 3, 4, and young 5's), the main goal is not academic learning, but reading readiness, socialization and a broad range of other learning experiences. Usually no lunch is served as the program runs only in the morning or afternoon. Check online or in the yellow pages for preschool programs in the area.

Kindergarten
At most public and some private schools, children 5 years old by September 30 of an academic year, attend kindergarten. Children are required by Michigan law to attend kindergarten. Children learn reading readiness, social skills and basic elementary education. A child cannot enter first grade without completing kindergarten.

School System
There are three school levels: elementary (ages 5-11), middle school (ages 11-14), and high school (ages 14-18).

Parent Responsibilities
- You will need to register your child for school at their designated registration times. Contact the school your child will be attending for scheduling. If your child will be beginning the school year while it is in progress, go to the school and ask how you should register your child. Your child may need a TB test, proof of vaccinations, and doctor’s physical check up to register.
- Bring up any concern about your child’s social, cultural, and education adjustment. Call the school and ask for an appointment to discuss your concerns. You do not need to wait for the regular parent/teacher conferences to meet with someone from your child’s school.
- Make sure that your child is at school on time. Promptness in arriving at school is required. If your child misses the school bus, you are responsible for transportation. Some schools do not provide transportation, in which case parents are responsible for driving children to school.
- Write excuses for your child’s absence if they need to miss class. Acceptable reasons for absence are: sickness, sickness or death in the family, and religious holidays.
- Schedule appointments with doctors or dentists after school hours when possible so the child will not miss school. If they must be scheduled during class time, provide a note explaining their absence.
- Dress your child for the weather. The weather in Detroit changes rapidly. Play times are usually outside so your child will need an extra jacket or sweater to put on or take off as needed. Label all clothing and personal items with your child’s name.
- Withdraw your child from school when you leave Detroit. Send a letter to the child’s teacher or principal giving the exact date of withdrawal. Report cards, certificates of attendance, etc., will be given to you by the school upon request.

- Volunteer as a parent aide in your child’s class. If you would enjoy helping with school activities or want to share information about your culture, let your child’s principal or teacher know at the beginning of the year.

Types of Schools

- Public Conventional Schools:
  In all public schools, education including textbooks and bus service is usually free. Boys and girls attend class together, Monday through Friday, seven hours a day. Hot lunches are available for purchase or your child may bring a lunch from home. You may enroll your child in the English as a Second Language program if he/she has shown a need on the English Enrollment Test.

- Charter Schools:
  A charter school is an independently run public school granted greater flexibility in its operations, in return for greater accountability for performance. Charter schools are public schools of choice, meaning that families choose them for their children. The "charter" establishing each school is a performance contract detailing the school’s mission, program, students served, performance goals, and methods of assessment. They operate with freedom from some of the regulations that are imposed upon district schools. Charter schools are accountable for academic results and for upholding the promises made in their charters. They must demonstrate performance in the areas of academic achievement, financial management, and organizational stability. If a charter school does not meet performance goals, it may be closed.

- Parochial Schools:
  These schools are church affiliated and partially subsidized by the church and partially by the family. Children learn the same basic subjects as conventional public schools but may also study religion. Usually children are required to wear uniforms and may be subject to more rigid guidelines. Some parochial schools separate the boys from the girls, but this is no longer the norm. Hot lunches are provided at the school and you may be asked to volunteer with various school activities. In order to enroll and/or learn more information about the schools available to you, look under schools online or in the yellow pages.

- Private Schools:
  These schools are fully funded by the families and outside donations. The philosophy of the schools vary greatly so parents should visit the school and read about its philosophy before enrolling children.

- Public Libraries:
  Libraries are open to the public to use or check out books to use at home for a designated period of time. You must obtain a library card to check out books. There will be a fine if the book is returned late. Call for information to Detroit Public Library at (313) 833-1000 or visit http://www.detroit.lib.mi.us/.

Social Networking/Internet Safety

A social network, such as Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram, allows members to post information to the Internet in order to share photos, videos, and personal messages with others. This information can be about the member, their family, friends, job or business. Such sites may be available to only a few selected individuals or open to anyone surfing the Internet.

Use caution when you click links that you receive in messages from your friends on social Websites. Know what you are posting about yourself. There is no guarantee that a message is really from who it says it is from. To avoid giving away e-mail addresses of your friends, do not allow social networking services to scan your e-mail address book. Type the address of your social networking site directly into your browser or use your personal bookmarks.

Choose your social network carefully. Be selective about who you accept as a friend on a social network. Assume that everything you put on a social networking site is going to be there FOREVER. Be careful about installing extras on your site.

Think twice before you use social networking at work. Set your profile to ‘Private’ to screen outsiders. Talk to your kids about social networking safety. Understand that people are not always who they claim they are. Do not agree to meet anyone you meet online unless you specifically know that person. If you do plan to meet someone, make sure to go to a safe location like a large mall, mainly because it is public, indoors, and provides either of you the option of “running an errand” if you wish not to meet. Bring a friend with you just to be safe. It’s okay to have fun and connect with others, but be alert and cautious.

Take precautions to prevent a negative outcome!

Safety Tips

During your time in the U.S., you will find that WSU is a safe campus. However, it is always important to be cautious. Remember:

- Program WSU Police Department (313-577-2222) into your phone. If you need police assistance and you are on campus, it is often best to call WSU Police first.
- Be observant.
- Be aware of your environment.
- Stay in populated areas.
- After dark, walk in well lighted areas.
- Walk in groups. If you find that you need to stay on campus well after dark, you may call WSU Police to walk or drive you home. This service is for your safety and free of charge.
- Keep outside doors locked.
- Keep valuables out of sight.
• Do not leave coats, books, or other valuable items in common areas.
• If you hear or see something suspicious call the police immediately.
• Do not leave your purse or wallet in the open.
• Carry all belongings in one bag.
• DO NOT carry your passport, I-94, visa, or other immigration documents unless you need to use them that day. If they are lost or stolen it will be very hard to replace and can be costly.
• Walk with a purpose.
• Keep your head up and do not be afraid to make eye contact with people.
• NEVER leave your property unattended.
• Park your car in a well light area with high traffic volume. NEVER leave anything of value in your car.
• While driving pick routes that are well lit and well-traveled.
• The quickest route is not always the safest.
• If you are stranded, DO NOT leave your car. You are safer waiting for help then you are going to look for it. If someone stops to help you, ask them to go and call the police for you. DO NOT GO WITH THEM.
• Consider carrying your cell phone and make sure it is charged.
• Make sure you have plenty of gas in your car.
• NEVER pick up hitchhikers or troubled motorists.
• Your personal information can be used by criminals to gain services, create fraudulent credit accounts, and to obtain false identification.
• Never give the following out to strangers:
  - Your credit card number
  - Your checking account number
  - ATM PIN number
  - Social Security number
  - Driver’s License Number
  - Health insurance information
• ATM Safety:
  - Try to use the ATM during daylight hours.
  - When entering your PIN number, use your body as a shield.
  - Always take your transaction receipts and statements.
  - Do not count or display money at the ATM.
  - Do not expect help from anyone you do not know.
  - When you use a drive up ATM make sure your passenger windows are closed and all doors are locked.
  - Do not give your security code to anyone.
• Always lock your windows and doors when you are away from your residence.
• Do not leave spare keys hidden on your property.
• All exterior doors should be equipped with deadbolt locks.
• If you have a sliding glass door, use a wooden dowel as a means of bolstering the door lock. Lay the dowel in the track near the bottom of the sliding door.
• Use timers on lights and be sure to stagger the pattern of lighting.
• Make sure that no bushes or trees obscure the windows or doors.
We understand that we have provided you with a lot of information. Please know that OISS and OIP are here to assist you from the time you arrive in the U.S. and beyond.
